

HooDat A fantastic little application for anyone who has ever said

“I wonder if I’m losing money because I miss phone calls”
“I wonder if I need to employ staff to answer the phone”

“Who was that on the phone”

Missed another call. It was actually your most important client who has now gone elsewhere.

“Missed another caller who didn’t leave a message”

Yup, it was actually your most important client again who simply refused to speak to a mechanical box

“Why don’t they leave a message”

Another important client who is fed up with “Your call is important to us...”
If the call really is important, back it up and install Hoodat

“I’m really busy and don’t want to be disturbed”

But, if you knew it was your most important client, you would want to know about it, right ?

“I suspect my part-time office lady is here on the wrong/quiet days”

Hoodat will confirm this, one way or another

“Next time that guy calls, I’m going to make sure I’m out of the office”

Ahuh, how will you know ?

Now imagine you have Hoodat installed

Now you

- Know who is on the phone before you’ve even answered the call
- Graph the phone calls for the past 7/14/30 or whatever number of days (for the 7 days of the week)
- Check when you last spoke with a person
- Record what you talked about
- ETC

(The numbers have been blurred)
